Dear Ms. Della Rocco:

This correspondence is in response to the Request for Additional Information (RAI) for the above referenced report.

Regarding receipts from "TASC", these are COBRA insurance reimbursements. The corresponding disbursement was paid to our healthcare provider. Receipts from "2012 Repub. National Conv." are offsets to operating expenditures such as travel expenses, office supplies, rent and payroll. The charges associated with these operating costs are intended to recover the cost for providing the service and as such in no way constitute a political contribution.

Regarding descriptions of disbursements reported on schedule B, we have amended our report to clarify the purpose of these transactions. "Political Souvenirs" refers to miscellaneous political memorabilia, such as lapel pins, flags and coffee mugs, provided to donors and supporters, and are not allocable to any federal candidate.

Regarding apparent voided disbursements reported on Schedule B, we have amended our report to clarify the nature of these transactions.

Regarding disbursements with the purpose "per diem", those disbursements were not made from petty cash and no memo items are required.

We have amended Schedule C of our report with additional information.

Please note the reported financial summary of this report has not changed with this amendment.

Regarding reimbursements to individuals for expenses other than subsistence, no further itemization is required under any Commission regulations for these expenditures.

Regarding reimbursements to staff for apparent travel and subsistence in amounts that exceed $500, no further itemization is required under any Commission regulations for these expenditures.

I trust this response will meet your requirements; however, please feel free to contact me if you have any remaining questions.

Sincerely,
Anthony W Parker
Treasurer
Republican National Committee
